

The departmental library is well-equipped with a rich collection of 18,596 books, a wide range of subscribed journals, and various facilities to support academic and research needs. It serves as a valuable resource center for students, faculty, and researchers, providing access to diverse reading materials and a conducive environment for study and learning.

